WORDS AND PHRASES IS UNIQUE

It is the only publication that takes every word or phrase that has been judicially defined by both state and federal courts and gives you all the definitions in simple one-paragraph form. You get the official title of all of the cases listed, together with parallel citations.

Words and Phrases is a national case-finding service. It includes cases from every state and from all federal courts since the nation's beginnings.

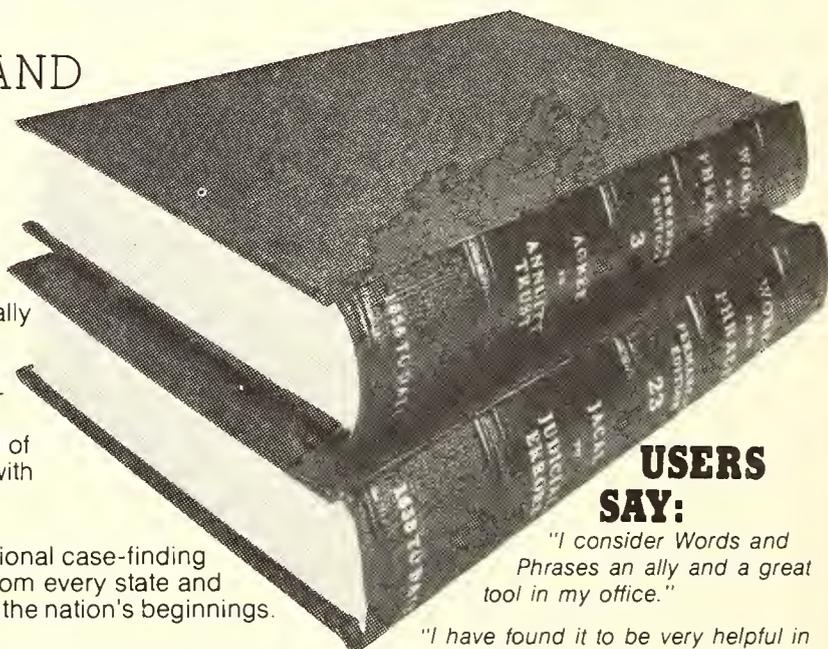

SIMPLE TO USE. You just take a word or phrase central to your issue. Alphabetically arranged, each entry leads you to all court interpretations of that word, complete with citations to each case.

INDIANA FORMS OF PLEADING AND PRACTICE

Charles A. Thompson and Judith Shaw Hostetter

A dynamic reference that contains more than just the forms necessary for civil action under Indiana trial rules.

More than just forms, these five volumes are definitive. They're extensively footnoted on all issues surrounding each Rule. Included is the full text of The Rule itself—with a comparison to each Rule's federal counterpart. And comparisons to prior code practice as well.

Plus you get a concise survey of cases complying with The Rule, and a full range of federal cases applicable in Indiana—with cross-references to every other form and Rule you need.

Carefully researched by the authors, both members of the Indiana Bar, these volumes have been edited to eliminate unnecessary "legalese."

Every form follows the Civil Rules in sequence. And easy-to-use annotations provide fast reference to other relevant Rules, statutes, and cases—as well as to other related forms.

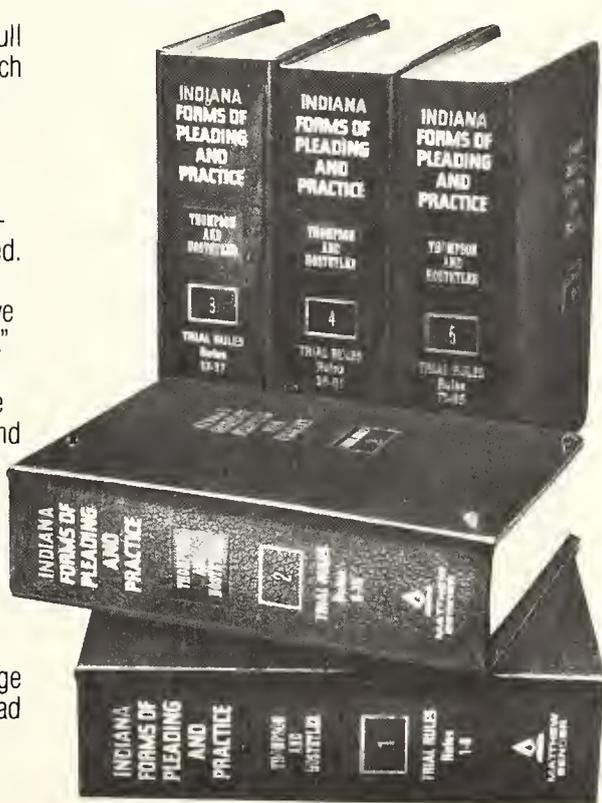

And to speed research on specific issues, you get an extensive table of Indiana cases.

Footnotes to the forms and Rules are comprehensive, yet selective—giving you an overview of the problems under each Rule, and in-depth access to the authorities.

The full explicit confidence-building coverage in the five volumes equips you to deal with broad areas of concern.

Get these five up-to-the-minute volumes that stay up-to-the-minute. Their patented looseleaf format lets you add periodic supplements and revisions as you need them.

Nobody can read all the new law, but with . . .

THE UNITED STATES LAW WEEK

you can keep up with the really significant new law

You know that thousands of decisions and rulings pour from the courts and federal agencies every year. LAW WEEK guards you against missing a single development of legal importance . . . yet saves you time by reducing your reading load!

■ To do this, LAW WEEK's staff of lawyer-editors research hundreds of opinions and rulings every week to find the precedent-setting few that make new law. These significant cases are digested for you under quick reference topic headings in the appropriate sections designated: 1.) New Court Decisions; 2.) Federal Agency Rulings; 3.) Supreme Court Opinions.

■ To save even more of your time, the more significant opinions and rulings appearing in all sections of LAW WEEK are highlighted in a special Summary and Analysis section — a five-minute, terse evaluation of the effect of these developments on current law.

■ A key feature of LAW WEEK is its high-speed reporting of U.S. Supreme Court opinions — in full text — accompanied by crisp and accurate summary digests. Mailed the same day they are handed down, these exact photographic reproductions of the Court's opinions eliminate the possibility of printing errors.

■ LAW WEEK also gives you full texts of all federal statutes of general interest, immediately after the President signs them.

■ And for easy reference, LAW WEEK is fully indexed — by topic and by case title — both for general law and Supreme Court actions.
